Chon Buri, in short “Mueang Chon,” has been a popular seaside town of the eastern coast for a long period of time. It is also an agricultural site of economic plants such as sugar cane, cassava and Para rubber trees, as well as, a location of the Eastern Seaboard Development Project and significant industrial factories.

From historical evidence, Mueang Chon Buri has been settled since the Ayutthaya period. Originally, it comprised of many small towns such as Mueang Bang Sai, Mueang Bang Pla Soi, and Mueang Bang Phra. Later, King Rama V combined these towns together into Chon Buri province.

Only 80 kilometres from Bangkok and covering an area of 4,363 square kilometers, the province is administratively divided into Amphoe Mueang Chon Buri, Amphoe Nong Yai, Amphoe Phanat Nikhom, Amphoe Ban Bueng, Amphoe Phan Thong, Amphoe Bo Thong, Amphoe Si Racha, Amphoe Bang Lamung (Pattaya), Amphoe Sattahip, Amphoe Ko Sichang and King Amphoe Ko Chan. As for Pattaya, it is an international tourist destination with a rapid growth. Therefore, a special local administration as Mueang Pattaya is necessary. It was separated from the Bang Lamung Administration, Chon Buri.

ATTRACTIONS

Amphoe Mueang Chon Buri

Wat Khao Phra Phutthabat Bang Sai (วัดเขาพระพุทธรบาท บางทราย) is located on the left side of Sukhumvit Road a slightly prior to Mueang Chon Buri. Originally, there was an ancient Ayutthayan temple at the foot of the hill but it was later ruined. Later, Phraya Phichitchonlakhet, the administrator of Mueang Chon Buri had Wat Phra Phutthabat Bang Sai re-constructed during the reign of King Rama V. Inside the Mondop—a square building with a crown-like cupola—resides the Buddha's footprint. Moreover, there is a small building on the summit of the mountain housing a Buddha image in the reclining posture. At the foot of the hill, there are many constructions in European style of the King Rama V period. From the end of the fourth lunar month to the second day of the fifth month during the period of the waxing moon, there is a tradition that people will proceed up the hill to pay respect to the Buddha's footprint. Moreover, there is a Takbat Thewo, alms-giving ceremony at the end of the Buddhist Lent.

Wat Yai Intharam (วัดใหญ่อินทาราม)

Located on Chet Chamnong Road, Mueang Chon Buri, it is an ancient and significant temple of Mueang Chon Buri, influenced by the late Ayutthayan architectural style. The Ubosot was built in its Gunwale Curve base and inside displays very beautiful mural paintings. Above the windows' edge are the pictures of the gathering of angels. On both of the side walls are paintings depicting the Thotsachat, or the Ten Births (Jatakas) of the Lord Buddha, and the story of Prince Vessantara. Moreover, there is a wooden tri-facade pavilion, where a bronze-cast bejewelled Buddha image called Luangpho Choei resides.

Phra Phutthasihing Shrine (หอพระพุทธรสิหิงค์)

Situated on Wachirapakan Road., about 500 metres from the city hall. The shrine houses a replica of the Phra Phutthasihing cast in pure silver. An extremely beautiful icon, it is highly revered by townspeople. Open daily from 8.00 a.m.-4.00 p.m. During the Songkran Festival, there is a procession of the Phra Phutthasihing image around the town to provide an opportunity for the people to conduct a water-pouring ceremony onto the Buddha image for good luck.

Wat Thammanimit (วัดธรรมนิมิตต์) is located in Tambon Ban Suan, on the Chon Buri-Phanat Nikhom Road, 1 kilometre from the town. It was constructed in 1941 and is a place where the Phra Phutthamongkhon Nimit Buddha image resides. It is a concrete Buddha image decorated with mosaic tiles in the Boarding a Boat posture (The image sits in the European style on the throne. The left hand is placed on his lap, while the right one is hanging by his side.) It is 34 metres high and is situated at the foot of the hill. Along the path to the summit, the scenery of Mueang Chon Buri can be viewed.

“Ang Sila 133 Years” Old Market (ตลาดเก่า“อ่างศิลา ๑๓๓ ปี”)

is part of the Ang Sila Market, Tambon Ang Sila, where visitors can enjoy the ambience of the lifestyle of a century ago, try seafood, desserts, as well as buy stone cooking mortars, and an array of souvenirs. There is also attractive architecture with Western Colonial influences; namely, Phra Tamnak Maha Rat and Phra Tamnak Rachini where King Rama V the Great and His royal consort, Queen Sri Bajarindra, used to stay. The old market is open on weekends and public holidays during 10.00 a.m.–6.00 p.m. It is under the responsibility of the Ang Sila Sub-district Municipality, Tel. 0 3814 2100–4.

Wihan Thep Sathit Phra Kitti Chaloeam or Nacha Sa Thai Chue Shrine (วิหารเทพสถิตพระกิติเฉลิม หรือ ศาลเจ้าหน้าจาช่าไต้จ้อ) is located in Ang Sila sub-district, covering an area of 4 rai. It is a Chinese shrine, beautifully and gigantically constructed by the Dharma Rasami Maneerat Foundation along the seaside road from Ang Sila to Khao Sam Muk. It is a 4-storey building decorated in the extraordinary Chinese architectural art and housing various Chinese deity images such as Nacha Sa Thai Chue God and 1000-handed Bodhisattva Kwan Yin image, etc. Walking to the upper levels, the splendid beach scenery can be witnessed. It is open daily from Monday to Friday at 8.00 a.m.–5.00 p.m. On

Wihan Thep Sathit Phra Kitti Chaloem or Nacha Sa Thai Chue Shrine

Saturday, it is open until 6.00 p.m., while until 8.00 p.m. on Sunday. For more information, Tel. 0 3839 8381-4, 0 3839 8399.

Khao Sam Muk (เขาสามมุข)

This is a low hillock situated between Ang Sila and Bang Saen Beach, along the Road., facing the seashore. A habitat of scores of wild monkeys, the hill-top affords a panoramic view of the Bang Saen Beach. At the foot of the hill are Thai and Chinese shrines highly respected by visitors. Legend said it that the cliff-top was where two lovers jumped to their death because of parental objection.

The Marine Scientific Institute (สถาบันวิทยาศาสตร์ทางทะเล)

Situated in the Burapha University at Bang Saen Beach,. It is a modern aquarium with realistic underwater environment. There is a marine science museum which is open daily from 8.30 a.m. until 5.30 p.m. and fish feeding demonstration 2.30 p.m. On weekend, show times 10.30 a.m., 2.30 p.m. Admission fee is 180 baht for adults and 100 baht for children. Tel. 0 3839 1671-3 for more information.

Bang Saen Beach (หาดบางแสน)

A well-known holiday beach only 14 kilometres from the provincial town. From Sukhumvit Road., take a right turn at Kms. 104 and proceed on for another 3 kilometres to get there. In 1943, the government built the first holiday resort in the country here. It is now under the supervision of Saen Suk Municipal Administration. Bang Saen Beach, is widely popular with Thai holiday-makers who happily romp along the long beach and partake in the tasty food available. Weekends are particularly crowded while it is relatively quiet during weekdays. Fronting the beach are hotels, bungalows, foodshops as well as recreational gears and bicycles for rent.

How to get there: Bus services are available from Bangkok's Ekkamai Bus Terminal throughout the day. There are also local "Song Thaeo" transports serving Chon Buri town-Nong Mon Market-Bang Saen Beach.

Laem Thaen (แหลมแท่น) is in the area of Bang Saen Beach near Khao Sam Muk. It is a cape reaching out to the sea where pavilions for relaxation and restaurants are situated. There are a lot of people coming to do fishing in the area. Moreover, a beautiful sculpture of a dolphin stands at this place.

Nong Mon Market (ตลาดหนองมน)

On Sukhumvit Road., near the entrance Road., to Bang Saen Beach, is the widely popular Nong Mon Market. It offers a vast range of local products but mostly foodstuffs, both fresh and preserved. Among its well-known buys are different types of dried seafoods and local specialties.

The Mangrove Forest Conservation and Study Center for Ecotourism (ศูนย์ศึกษาธรรมชาติและอนุรักษ์ป่าชายเลนเพื่อการท่องเที่ยวเชิงนิเวศ) is located at Mu 3, Tambon Samet, covering an area of approximately 300 rai. It is an interesting ecotourism attraction. The centre has prepared a 2,300-metre-long wooden boardwalk for visitors to wander in the mangrove nature where its ecological system still remains in perfect condition. Moreover, there are also a bird-watching scaffold and various kinds of mangrove plants such as Kongkang (mangrove), Samet, Samae, Lamphu, etc. Also, there is marine life such as fiddler crab, “Yok Fa”, a new species of crab, as well as, various kinds of fish-eating birds. In front of the center is also a health park. The admission fee is 10 baht for adults and 5 baht for children. It is open daily, as well as, on public holidays from 8.30 a.m.-8.00 p.m. For more information, Tel. 0 3839 8268.

How to get there: Take Sukhumvit Road from Mueang Chon Buri, the similar route to the Chon Buri Provincial Administration Office. Go straight on for 4 kilometres until the end of the road.

Amphoe Si Racha

Ko Loi Si Racha (เกาะลอยศรีราชา)

This is a small islet near the northern shore of Si Racha. Connected to the mainland by a bridge, it is a popular location for recreation by the local people. Visitors can enjoy feeding sea turtles in a pond. A flight of stairs leads up to the breezy hill-top temple which offers a delightful view of the sea.

Sriracha Tiger Zoo (สวนเสือศรีราชา)

Amphoe Ko Sichang

Ko Sichang (เกาะสีชัง)

Twelve kilometers off the shore of Si Racha is the large island of Sichang offering pleasant and quiet mountain and sea views. Ko Sichang has served as a cargo station since the early days of the country's trading history. It is also the site of a summer palace built during the reign of King Rama V. Although abandoned for over a century, several sections of the palace have been restored.

Places of interest on the island include:

Chao Pho Khao Yai Shrine (ศาลเจ้าพ่อเขาใหญ่)

Situated on a northern hill of the island, the shrine is a natural architecture masterpiece, revered by both the Thai and Chinese worshippers. From here the front side of the island with a panoramic view of Sichang community can be clearly seen.

Mondop atop Buddha's Footprint (มณฑปรอยพระพุทธรบาท)

King Rama V had this footprint replica installed on top of Khaya Sira Hill. It is another vantage point to admire Ko Sichang and its surrounding.

Hat Tham Khao Phang (หาดถ้ำเขาพัง)

Hat Tham Khao Phang at the back of the island surrounds this white sandy beach. The sloping beach is thus on the unwindy side. The sea is clear and not too wavy. It is a good spot for swimming and lazing on the beach to admire the sunset.

Khao Khat Pass and Hat Hin Klom (ช่องเขาขาดและหาดหินกลม)

The name of “Hat Hin Klom” comes from the rounded rocks on the beach which have been “rounded” by the westerly wind that normally comes from March to September. The white sand makes the beach look clean and clear. The pass on the back side of the island is also another vantage point to watch the sunset.

Phra Chuthathut Ratchathan (พระจุฑาธุชราชฐาน)

The only palace amidst the sea, King Rama V had it built in 1892 as a holiday retreat and a convalescence home for his wives and children. The king loved to visit Sichang Island because of the beautiful scenery and the tranquil atmosphere it offered. It was also a big cargo station with lively transactions with foreign ships. For the construction, the king spent the money from his private treasury. He named the palace after the name of Prince Chuthathut who was born here.

The landscaping of the palace compound has carefully planned. Residential quarters, lawns, pools, and swamps are designed and located in ascending tiers from the beach up to the top of the hill, alternated with frangipani trees (Plumeria acuminata) of different colours. Each building was named after the queen who sponsored its decoration, for example, Watthana Mansion, Phongsi Mansion, and Aphirom Mansion. On the beach there is a green house made of wood decorated with ginger-bread patterns. A building called “Man-that Phairot” was unfortunately stopped by the Thai-Franco disturbance in 1894. In 1899 the king had it moved to Dusit Palace in Bangkok and had the construction completed. He named it “Vimanmek,” which is now opened as a museum. A temple called “Wat Atsadang Nimit” was also built on a hill near the palace. Western architectural style was adapted and applied to the construction of the temple.

Facilities: There are several hotels and bungalows on the island. For local transport, motorised tricycles can be chartered to travel around. The narrow Road., on the island are in good condition, suitable for cycling and strolling.

How to get there: There are daily ferry services between Si Racha and Ko Sichang. Boats leave Ko Loi Si Racha everyday and every hours from 7.00 a.m.-8.00 p.m. It takes about 45 minutes for the journey. On return, boats leave Ko Sichang every hour from 6.00 a.m.-6.00 p.m. The boat services are operated by two companies: Saeng Prathip Tel. 0 38 216 235, 038 313 687 and Sichang Palace Tel. 0 3821 6276-82 is located 5 minutes at the front of Ko Sichang. The ferry to Ko Sichang will stop at Ko Kham Yai. On the island is a fishing village with homestay accommodation, as well as, various activities of fishing, collecting oysters and catching squid provided for the visitors.

Ko Khangkhao (เกาะค้างคาว) is a small island on the southern side of Ko Sichang where there is a sandy beach and coral. Take a boat at Thewawong Pier for approximately half an hour. The cost is approximately 800 baht. Otherwise, a speed boat can be rented from Ko Loi Siracha Pier for 5,000 baht for 10 persons. Accommodation is also provided on the island.

Amphoe Phanat Nikhom

is an engraved Buddha image out of Padauk wood in the posture of subduing Mara. It is the Laotian art, constructed in 1828 by the Laotians who immigrated into this area. Originally, the image was enshrined in an abandoned temple, called “Wat Pha Khao Yai”, which is assumed to be an ancient temple, the first to be constructed in the Phanat Nikhom area. Later, Phanat Nikhom Municipality Office renovated the temple and its compound, as well as, built a Wihan as a residence of the wooden Buddha image at the location where the original Ubosot had been. At present, it is near the community centre of the Phanat Nikhom Municipality Office.

Ho Phra Phanatbodi (หอพระพนัสบดี)

is situated in the middle of a pond, opposite the Phanat Nikhom Municipality Office, Mueang Kao Road, Soi 1. It is a place where a replica of Phra Phanatbodi (Vanaspati) is enshrined. It is a dignified standing Buddha image in the blessing posture of the Dvaravati period, whose age is approximately 1,200-1,300 years. It was elaborately engraved out of a delicate black stone. The image is standing on a mythical creature whose characteristics are a mixture of a garuda, a bull and a swan.

Wat Chum Saeng Si Wanaram (วัดชุมแสงศรีวนาราม) is located at Mu 1, Tambon Nong Nang, 13 kilometres from Phanat Nikhom Market via Thung Hiang Market along the Highway No. 3284. Then, turn left for 2 kilometres. This temple was originally called “Wat Mai Yang Ngam”. The distinguishing point of this temple is Sala Kan Parian—a temple hall for the Buddhist monks’ meeting and religious ceremony, constructed of terra-cotta into modern architecture. It is called Mabunkhrong Building. Moreover, the Ubosot displays interesting religious puzzle paintings.

Luangpho Tio, Wat Hua Thanon (หลวงพ่อดิว วัดหัวถนน) is 10 kilometres from the centre of the district. Take the Phanat Nikhom–Sa Siliam route to Tambon Hua Thanon, which is the location of the temple. Luangpho Tio is a Buddha image in subduing Mara posture. It is an engraved image of Tseo wood (called Tio wood by the Laotians). During the Songkran period, on 19 April every year, there is a procession carrying the image around the village. It is believed that the image would make all the wishes and success come true.

Sa Siliam (สระสี่เหลี่ยม) is situated at Mu 6, Tambon Sa Siliam. From Phanat Nikhom, take the Phanat Nikhom–Sa Siliam Road, passing Wat Hua Thanon to an ancient pond in a square shape (Sa Siliam), dug into a laterite. According to legend, it is the pond where Phra Rot in the folk story “Phra Rot-Meri”, brought his cock to drink water in this area when he ran a cock fight to make a living for the 12 ladies.

Wat Luang Phrommawat (วัดหลวงพรหมवास) is situated at Ban Khlong Luang, Tambon Wat Luang on the Phanat Nikhom–Chachoengsao Road, the similar way to Wat Bot. This temple was once a place where the ceremony of drinking an oath of allegiance was conducted. The temple’s compound is large and abundant. Moreover, there are a large number of flying foxes in the trees.

Wat Bot (วัดโบสถ์) is on Phanat Nikhom – Chachoengsao Road, Tambon Wat Bot, approximately 6 km. from the Phanat Nikhom Intersection along Suk Prayun Road. The entrance to the temple is on the left. This old temple contains an ancient pond which has been registered as a national ancient monument by the Fine Arts Department.

Wat Tai Ton Lan (วัดใต้ตันลาน) is located at Rai Lak Thong Sub-district on the Phanat Nikhom–Chachoengsao Road. It was constructed in 1905, representing the interesting architecture of the local skilled craftsmen such as the old wooden Sala Kan Parian—a preaching hall, a pair of swan columns, the cement giant sculpture in front of the Ubosot, the ancient Jiangxi Chinese tiles layering the floor of the Ubosot, and the scripture hall or library made of teakwood surrounded by water.

Amphoe Bo Thong

Namtok Ang Phak Nam (น้ำตกอ่างผักหนาม)

is located near Khao Yai, Tambon Phluang Thong, approximately 70 kilometres from Amphoe Phanat Nikhom and 30 kilometres from Bo Thong Market. Sharing the same entrance as Wat Muttothai, the waterfall still maintains its perfect natural condition. For more details, please contact the Phluang Thong Sub-district Administration Organization at Tel. 0 3816 5836.

Khao Cha-ang (เขาชะอางค์) is 30 kilometres from the centre of the district. It is an isolated limestone mountain standing on a plain and an important source of gold and antimony. Khao Cha-ang comprises of Khao Cha-ang Song Khrueng, Khao Cha-ang Ha Yot and Khao Cha-ang On. Inside each mountain are various beautiful caves such as Tham Nam, Tham Khangkhao, Tham Laplae and Tham Mangkon. For more information, Tel. 0 3816 5836 is 19 kilometres from Bo Thong District in the east. It is a large cave with a carrying capacity of thousands of people and a location of beautiful stalagmites and stalactites, as well as, a habitat of a large number of bats.

Tham Khao Cha-ang Song Khrueng (ถ้ำเขาชะอางค์ทรงเครื่อง)

Tham Khao Cha-ang Ha Yot (ถ้ำเขาชะอางค์ห้ายอด) is 7 kilometres further from Khao Cha-ang Song Khrueng. It is also a big cave of stalagmites and stalactites. Moreover, inside is divided into many small chambers.

EVENTS & FESTIVALS

Chon Buri Annual Festival (งานนมัสการพระพุทธสิหิงค์และงานกาชาดประจำปีจังหวัดชลบุรี) This fair is held about mid-April during the Songkran Festival. Phra Phutthasihing, Chon Buri's principle Buddha image, is put in a procession around the city. Also organised are cultural shows, exhibitions and stalls offering various types of products.

Phanat Nikhom's Bun Klang Ban Merit-Making and Basketry Promotion Fair (งานบุญกลางบ้าน และเครื่องจักสานพนัสนิคม) are traditions that have been passed on for a long period of time of the Phanat Nikhom people. They are organized on Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the first week of May or the Thai 6th lunar month. The locals will bring food, offer them to the monks, and dedicate the merit to the guardian spirits, enemies from a former life, the deceased relatives, as well as, to drive out bad things, to ask for rain during the season and to wish for abundant food and plants. After the religious ceremony, there is lunch, local games and a demonstration of Phanat Nikhom basketry making.

Remarkable 100 Years Sichang Island (งานวันรำลึก ๑๐๐ ปีชาวเกาะสีชัง) is held to pay respect to King Rama V the Great who had the Chuthathut Ratchathan Palace constructed on the island. Ko Sichang is a historical site related to a number of Thai kings. The event is held annually in September to commemorate King Rama V's birthday anniversary and his benevolence.

Wan Lai Festival (ประเพณีวันไหล) is a Chon Buri merit making day of the seamen on the Thai New Year during the Songkran Festival, organized during 13-20 April every year. There is alms-offering to the monks, ceremony of pouring water onto the Buddha's image, sand pagoda making, splashing water and local games and sports in Chon Buri. The areas where the Wan Lai Festival is organized are as follows:

Pattaya-Na Kluea Wan Lai Festival and Na Kluea Kong Khao Fair (งานประเพณีวันไหล พัทยา-นาเกลือ และงานกองขำนาเกลือ) are organized on 18-20 April every year at Lan Pho Public Park, Na Kluea and Wat Chai Mongkhon in South Pattaya. Various activities are organized such as a water pouring ceremony to seek blessings from the elderly, Wan Lai procession and amusing water splashing among locals and tourists.

Songkran Festival and Si Racha Ancestors Spirit Ceremony (งานประเพณีสงกรานต์ศรีมหาราชาและงานประเพณีกองข้าว) is an ancient festival of the Chon Buri locals. At present, Si Racha District still preserves this tradition and organizes it every year, during 19-21 April, to worship the gods who have been protecting them throughout the year. Activities comprise of the procession led by the elderly and various organizations in traditional Thai costume, a worship ceremony, spirit offering ceremony, Kong Khao tradition demonstration, local games, demonstrations, and sales of traditional desserts and local food.

Bang Saen Sand Castle and Wan Lai Festival (งานประเพณีก่อพระทรายวันไหล บางแสน) is the festival which has been conducted by the Saen Suk people from the past. Originally, it was called "Ngan Thambun Wan Lai", a gathering of people from various villages to do the merit making in the Songkran Festival or the Thai New Year Day, taking place on 16-17 April, every year. Monks from every temple in Saen Suk Sub-district are invited to perform the religious ceremony. There is merit making, food offering and bathing ceremony. Later, there are activities of sand pagoda making, water splashing, local games and sports, etc.

Chon Buri Buffalo Racing

The Legend of Hae Pha Ya Yom (ประเพณีแห่พญายม-สงกรานต์ บางพระ) is an old folk tradition long inherited and observed by the people of Bang Phra. It is held annually during 16 – 18 April. Phaya Yom is believed to be a lord of all spirits and devils. To collect every evil attached to him and float onto the sea symbolizes a release of all bad things from the village for the happy livelihood of the villagers. The event features a procession of the replica of Phaya Yom, ceremony performed by a Brahmin, paying homage to the 100-year-old Buddha's footprint, folk games, seafood and local products fair, as well as cultural performances.

Chon Buri Buffalo Racing (งานประเพณีวิ่งควาย) This is a long-established celebration of this most useful animal of Thai farmers. A fun-filled event, it is held not only in Chon Buri itself but also in Ban Bueng and Nong Yai districts. The beasts of burden are dressed outrageously or with admirable creativity by owners depending on their imagination. Assembled in the courtyard in front of the town hall, the buffaloes partake in racing, or take part in physical fitness and "fashion" contests.

LOCAL PRODUCTS AND SOUVENIRS

Famous handicrafts of Chon Buri include Ang Sila's granite mortars and Phanat Nikhom's basketry.

Chon Buri is also abundant in fresh and dried seafood. A vast variety of seafood products are normally available anywhere especially at Nong Mon market.

Some recommended specialties at Nong Mon market include

Chaeng Lon (แฉงลอน) This is Chon Buri's special delicacy which uses the same ingredients as Ho Mok (ห่อหมก) with coconut shreds to replace coconut milk. The mixture is hand-molded into small buns on a stick, and charcoal-grilled until cooked.

Hoi Cho (หอยจ้อ) This Chinese delicacy is Chon Buri's famous dish because a special kind of sea crabs is used as the main ingredient.

Khao Lam (ข้าวหลาม) This specialty is made with sticky rice, sugar and coconut cream cooked in specially-prepared bamboo rods.

Stone Products (ผลิตภัณฑ์จากหิน) such as a mortar, whetstone, engraved stone into animal shapes such as lions, elephants, horses and others are widely offered at Ang Sila, on the way from Chon Buri to Bang Saen.

Products from Pineapple Paper (ผลิตภัณฑ์จากกระดาษใยสับปะรด) are produced in Tambon Nong Kham, Si Racha District. Examples of the products include wine boxes and bags, boxes of tissue paper, perfume boxes, photo albums, folders, sets of envelopes and boxes of paper note. Moreover, there is paper, made of combined ingredients such as that made of banana fiber and of water hyacinth. For more information, please contact Tel. 08 1723 0339.

Phanat Nikhom Basketry (เครื่องจักสานพนัสนิคม) Long known for its fine basketry products, Amphoe Phanat Nikhom originally made them for daily use. The products were gradually developed into more elaborate and marketable hand-crafted items. The major market is on Ko Kaeo Road., behind the Municipal Market I. To view the production process and higher quality items, pay a visit to the Promotion Center for Bamboo Basketry Skills (ศูนย์ส่งเสริมฝีมือการจักสานด้วยไม้ไผ่) on Intha-asa Road., near the district office, which is a royally-initiated project of Her Majesty the Queen. The Center is open every Monday-Saturday from 8.00 a.m.-5.00 p.m., Tel: 0 3846 1313.

Artificial Fruits Made of Clay (ผลไม้ดินปั้น) are produced at Ban Nong Phrom, Mu 12, Tambom Na Roek, Phanat Nikhom District. Take the Phanat Nikhom-Ko Pho Road, along Highway No. 3246 for 10 kilometres. Various kinds of artificial fruits made of clay in miniature size are made, dried by sunlight and painted in actual colours. Then, they are wind dried again. They are suitable for being souvenirs or decorating materials.
