Ancient Town of Kanchanaburi (โบราณสถานในเขตเมืองกาญจนบุรีเก่า) located in Tambon Lat Ya between km 2-3 on Highway 3199 off Highway 323. It used to be a border outpost confronting armies arriving through the Three Pagodas Pass since the Ayutthaya through Rattanakosin Periods (ca. 1548-1784). Mounds of the rectangular earthen wall measuring 167x355 square kilometres. and four corner fortresses still remain to be seen. Ancient monuments within its vicinity include:

Wat Pa Lelai (วัดป่าเลไลยก์) known locally as Wat Pha Ok (วัดผ่าอก) and built in the Ayutthaya Period. The Mondop-a square building-once enshrined a seated Buddha image in the gesture of subduing Mara, which was drilled through the chest-'Pha Ok' in Thai. An image of the Buddha receiving offerings from a monkey and an elephant known as 'Palilayaka'-Pa Lelai- was later constructed to replace the former one. Remains of architecture within the temple include Mondop, Wihan and round brick Chedi with clay mortar and cement coating.

Wat Khun Phaen (วัดขุนแผน) from the side entrance of Wat Pa Lelai toward the training camp of the Faculty of Engineering, Chulalongkorn University, this is an abandoned temple built in the Ayutthaya Period. The complex included Phra Prang, which was the principal building of the temple, remains of which are still to be seen, Phra Ubosot, directional and satellite Chedis, and Wihan.

Wat Mae Mai (วัดแม่หม้าย) built in the Ayutthaya Period and located some 300 metres to the east of Wat Khun Phaen. There are 2 groups of architectural remains. The remains in the north include a large round Chedi situated on a plinth and rectangular west-facing Wihan. The remains in the south include a medium-scale east-facing Wihan, satellite Chedis and rectangular boundary wall, with a so-called 'Sa Lang Kraduk' or 'bone-washing' pond in between. Ruins of Wat Nang Phim or Wat Kanchanaburi Kao are located nearby.

Wat Khun Phaen

Nine Army Battle Historical Park

Nine Army Battle Historical Park (อุทยานประวัติศาสตร์สงครามเก้าทัพ)

located at Thung Lat Ya in Tambon Chong Sadao, some 40 kilometres. from Kanchanaburi. Take Highway 323 and turn into Highway 3199 (Kanchanaburi-Srinagarindra Dam) to Kilometres. 24. The Park serves as a source of data on the historic nine-army battle under the royal command of King Rama I in defense of the kingdom against the invasion of King Bodawpaya of Myanmar in 1785. The battle at Thung Lat Ya contributed to Thailand's national sovereignty having been sustained until the present. The exhibition building houses dioramas of the battle scenes and a sand table displaying the topography as well as route taken by the troops. There is an observation tower for visitors to better understand how to take advantage of the topography in the battle. Open daily during 8.00 a.m.-5.00 p.m. Admission is 20 baht. For more information, please contact the Office of Operations, Kanchanaburi Military District, Tel. 0 3458 9233-5 ext. 51015. (Advance contact is required.)

Khao Chon Kai Training Camp (ค่ายฝึกเขานก)

Chong Kai War Cemetery (สุสานทหารสัมพันธมิตรช่องไก่)

another war cemetery smaller than the one at Don Rak located near Kanchanaburi Pier on the Khwae Noi River, some 4 kilometres. from Kanchanaburi. A former site of a large POW camp, it is accessible by crossing the Somdet Phra Sangkharat Yannasangwon Bridge. It contains the remains of 1,740 Allied POWs who were mostly British soldiers.

Wat Tham Khao Pun (วัดถ้ำเขาปูน) located 1.5 kilometres beyond Chong Kai War Cemetery and approximately 6 kilometres. from Kanchanaburi. This is another former site of a large POW camp during WWII. There is a medium cave within the temple housing a large Buddha image and a hilltop image of Phra Sangkatchai, with a river flowing by behind the temple.

Wat Phothisat Banphot Nimit (วัดโพธิสัตว์บรรพตนิมิต)

is situated at Tambon Nong Ya. This temple is in the Lanna style since Khruba Bunkhum Pasanno, the abbot who was a disciple of a well-known monk master in the North, made a pilgrimage in Cambodia's and Myanmar's forests until reaching Kanchanaburi province. Therefore, he began to build a temple in order to propagate and practice the Dharma, and worship sacred objects. In the temple's area, there is a huge Guan Yin (Goddess of Mercy) carved out of white jade, the Siri Mongkhon Chai Chedi in the Lanna style, and shady decorated areas. Every September, there is a ceremony to show gratitude to teachers in the Lanna style, including a Tung and Saliang procession, which is the big annual fair of the temple.

To get there: It is 9 kilometres from the city; pass Wat Tham Khao Pun.

Kanchanaburi Cultural Centre (ศูนย์วัฒนธรรมจังหวัดกาญจนบุรี) located inside Kanchanaburi Rajabhat University, Tambon Nong Bua, on the Kanchanaburi-Sai Yok route (Highway 323), some 15 kilometres from the province. The ground floor exhibits household utensils and tools for daily use as well as fishing gear. The upstairs houses exhibition rooms on history, religions and traditions, old Thai scriptures and various art objects. There are excavation pits nearby. The cultural centre is open daily, except for Wednesdays, during 8.30 a.m.-4.30 p.m. For more information, please contact the Office of Arts and Culture, Kanchanaburi Rajabhat University, Tel. 0 3463 3227-8 ext. 650 Fax. 0 3463 3224.

Wat Tham Khao Noi (วัดถ้ำเขาน้อย).

The temple is next to Wat Tham Suea. There are images of gods and other respected images along the belief of Annamese (Vietnamese) Buddhism. The Dharma hints from the eighteen statues of arahants and Chinese priests can be learned. Tourist can climb up to the Chinese pavilion on the top of the mountain to see the beautiful sights of Kanchanaburi town and Mae Klong Dam.

Wat Wang Khanai Thayikaram Hot Well (บ่อน้ำร้อนวัดวังขนายทายิกาaram)

It is situated in Tambon Wang Khanai in Wat Wang Khanai Thayikaram. In 1997, the Department of Mineral Resources drilled a well in the temple area and found that the water temperature was 42 degrees Celsius. Therefore, they suggested that the temple should consume water from the well. Later, officials did the sampling of the hot water in this well and after the study it was proved that the water consisted of many types of elements which gave benefits to our body. At present, there are about 55 hot water wells for standing, sitting and reclining. It opens daily during 5.00 a.m.-9.00 p.m.

Amphoe Tha Maka

Boran Sathan Phong Tuek (โบราณสถานพงตึก)

It is believed that this site was the location of an ancient city of the Dvaravati Period with an influence of the Gupta School of Indian Art dating around the 6th-7th century A.D. From the Fine Arts Department's discovery, they found lots of Dvaravati antiques at Phong Tuek in 1927 such as Roman bronze lamp, Buddhist terra-cotta plaques, Naraya or Visnu image carved from stone, and other Buddha images. Later in 1934, Dr. Wales, a representative of the Antique Studies Association from India, came to explore and excavate more at Phong Tuek and proved that a civilized ancient city used to be placed here around a thousand years ago. Nowadays, some pieces of the found artefacts are kept in Wat Dong Sak and others are kept at the National Museum in Bangkok. To get there: the site is about 33 kilometres south from Kanchanaburi. From Bangkok, take Highway 323 until you notice the direction sign on the left at km. 92-93 leading the way to Boran Sathan Phong Tuek. After crossing Chantharubeksa Bridge, pass Wat Dong Sak on your left then go straight on until you get to the Phong Tuek police kiosk on the right. The Boran Sathan Phong Tuek is next to the police kiosk.

Wat Phra Thaen Dong Rang Worawihan

This ancient temple has a gigantic stone which local people believe is a holy stone where Lord Buddha passed away to Nirvana. In addition, it is the only place in Thailand which has a footprint of Lord Buddha made of a large plate of wood. In the temple's area, there are ruins which are related with the Lord Buddha's history, such as mouth-rinsing well, Ananda's Vihara, and the folk museum. Every year in the middle of the fourth Thai lunar month, a grand holy festival will be held to pay respect to the Lord Buddha.

To get there: from Bangkok, take Highway 323 to the Tha Ruea Market Intersection. Turn right and keep along Highway 3081, between km. 9-10.

Amphoe Phanom Thuan

Tham Krasae (ถ้ำกระแซ)

is a cave located 55 kilometres from town along Highway 323 between Km 29-30 on the historical Kanchanaburi-Namtok rail route. It used to be a shelter for WWII prisoners-of-war during the construction of the Death Railway running from Thailand to then Myanmar. Inside the cave, there is an image of Luangpho Tham Krasae, to which local people as well as visitors usually pay respect before touring the cave and admiring the scenic beauty of the railway skirting the cliff and overlooking the Khwae Noi River down below. This was the most difficult part of the railway's construction.

Namtok Sai Yok Noi (น้ำตกไทรโยคน้อย) formerly known as Namtok Khao Phang (น้ำตกเขาพัง), located within the Sai Yok National Park at km. 46 on Highway 323 (Kanchanaburi-Sai Yok-Thong Pha Phum) from Kanchanaburi 64 kilometres. It is one of several picturesque waterfalls in Kanchanaburi, with verdant natural surroundings especially in the rainy season around July-October when there is a lot of water. King Rama V visited this waterfall in 1888. A steam locomotive from WWII is displayed within the area as a memorial to the construction of the Death Railway via the waterfall toward Myanmar.

A special train running on the Namtok or Waterfall Line to this waterfall is available on weekends and public holidays. For more information, please contact Tel. 1690, 0 2220 4334, 0 2621 8701-9 or www.railway.co.th. There is also a local bus running by Namtok Sai Yok Noi leaving the bus station in Amphoe Mueang every 30 minutes during 6.00 a.m.-6.30 p.m.

Tham Wang Badan (ถ้ำวังบาดาล) or Tham Sawan Wang Badan (ถ้ำสวรรค์วังบาดาล), located within the area of Erawan National Park at Tambon Tha Sao, Amphoe Sai Yok, some 63 kilometres from the province. It is accessible from behind Namtok Sai Yok Noi where there is a direction sign of 3 kilometres to the national park's safeguard unit, a location of the upstream of Namtok Sai Yok. Another 1,500 metre walk from the safeguard unit will lead to the cave with nature interpretation signs along the way. Tham Wang Badan is a small but deep cave of 500 metres long. It is a 2-storeyed limestone cave with a small hole at the mouth to be entered one by one. Its upper storey houses various chambers of beautiful stalagmites and stalactites of different shapes. The lower storey contains a stream to look like a tunnel of water under a large boulder.

Tham Lawa (ถ้ำละว้า)

The entrance of the cave is not wide, but it is large. It is divided into many rooms; such as, the throne hall, music room, curtain room, and Phra Prang room. Each room has different stalactites. Some rooms are like a theatre curtain, which are sparkling and glittering as if scattered with diamond dust.

To get there: It is 75 kilometres from the city. Use Highway No. 323. Then, 1 kilometre before reaching Namtok Sai Yok Noi, turn left to the Pak Saeng Pier. A boat rental to Tham Lawa is 1,000 baht/10-11 people taking 45 minutes. Or drive to the Kaeng Raboet Bridge and follow the asphalt road until reaching the cave. It is 80 kilometres from the city.

To get there: Pilok Mine is located approximately 70 km. to the west of Amphoe Thong Pha Phum along Highway No. 3272. Follow the same route as the Thong Pha Phum National Park.

Lam Khlong Ngu National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติลำคลองงู)

named after a creek that snakes through the jungle, eroding limestone cliffs along the way and turning them into large caves and grottoes with attractive stalagmites and stalactites. There are many beautiful caves in Lam Khlong Ngu National Park such as:

Tham Sao Hin (ถ้ำเสาหิน) located 6 kilometres. from the mouth of Lam Khlong Ngu which flows through the cave. Tham Sao Hin houses a floor-to-ceiling column formed by the joining of stalagmites and stalactites, measuring 62.5 metres high, which is the tallest rock column ever found in Thailand. There are also other spectacular stalagmites and stalactites of different forms within the cave.

To get there: the cave is accessible by a boat sailing northbound from Srinagarindra Dam to the mouth of Lam Khlong Ngu. A walk for another 6 kilometres or some 2 hours will lead to the cave, with several breathtaking waterfalls originating from Lam Khlong Ngu along the way.

To get there: by car, start from Namtok Erawan via Tham Phra That to Namtok Huai Mae

Khamin, continue for another 1.30 hours to Ban Phu Toei and walk on for approximately 3 hours to the cave. The walking trail will lead through scenic valleys and cliffs. Visitors to Tham Sao Hin need to be adventure-lovers who are physically fit. Guidance by a national park official or local guide is necessary. February-April is the suitable period for visiting the cave, as the water level inside will be very high in the rainy season.

Tham Nok Nang Aen (ถ้ำนกนางแอ่น) located around the middle section of Lam Khlong Ngu at Mu 5 Ban Khao Phra In, Tambon Chalaе. It is a spacious cave approximately 3 kilometres long, with the Lam Khlong Ngu flowing through it. It features the so-called Karst windows formed by the subsidence of the cave's ceiling, which divided the cave into 3 roomy chambers that look like 3 connected train carriages. The cave is home to a large flock of swallows-Nok Nang Aen in Thai-and houses spectacular stalagmites and stalactites.

To get there: take the same route as Tham Sao Hin and continue for another 6 kilometres. from Ban Phu Toei to Ban Khao Phra In, turn right into a dirt road for another 3 kilometres and walk further for some 30 minutes to the cave. A four-wheel drive vehicle is recommended, or rent an 'I Taek'-adapted from a local ploughing vehicle-from Ban Khao Phra In. Otherwise take Highway 323 (Thong Pha Phum-Sangkhla Buri), turn right at Kilometres. 26 (Phuttho Intersection) via Namtok Thung Nang Khruan until getting to Ban Huai Suea, continue toward Ban Phu Toei and turn left into a dirt road for 3 kilometres. From the parking area, a walk of some 30 minutes will lead to the cave. Please contact the national park's official or villagers for guidance. Advance arrangements as well as preparation for physical fitness is suggested.

Tham Namtok (ถ้ำน้ำตก) similar to Tham Sao Hin and Tham Nok Nang Aen in that it is a cave with a creek flowing through it. It features underground water cascading down the rock to form a 17 tiered waterfall, with the tallest tier being some 20 metres high. There are also spectacular stalagmites and stalactites in various forms throughout the 2,710 metres long cave. Tham Yai (ถ้ำใหญ่) a large spacious cave with a mouth of approximately 50 metres wide. The chamber inside can accommodate thousands of people. It is the province's largest cave located about 1 kilometre. from Tham Namtok.

Namtok Thung Nang Khruan (น้ำตกทุ่งนางครวญ)

located approximately 190 kilometres from Kanchanaburi at Ban Thung Nang Khruan, Tambon Chalaе, within the area of Srinagarindra Dam. It is a large 7 tiered limestone waterfall amid verdant and shady intact natural surroundings. There is water all year round which cascades down high cliffs, some of which are more than 35 metres high.

To get there: take Highway 323 (Thong Pha Phum-Sangkhla Buri), turn right at km. 26 (noticing the white Buddha image at the intersection) and continue for 15 kilometres along the alternate asphalt and laterite road to Ban Thung Nang Khruan, turn for 3 kilometres into the entrance to the waterfall. A walk for another 1 kilometre or 30 minutes will lead to the 1st tier of the waterfall. A four-wheel drive vehicle or pick up truck and local guide will be needed. Visiting caves in Lam Khlong Ngu National Park needs advance arrangement of itinerary, necessary equipment for cave exploration, and preparation of physical fitness. A local guide is a must. February-May is the most appropriate period for visiting the caves as the water level

Namtok Kroeng Krawia

inside will be very high in the rainy season. Admission is 400 baht for adults and 200 baht for children. For more information, please contact the Lam Khlung Ngu National Park, P.O. Box 4, Thong Pha Phum Kanchanaburi 71180. Tel. 08 1856 6518

That's why we call the point "Sam Prasop" (the confluence of three rivers). In addition,

Mons have settled in this district so visitors can learn about the typical Mon ancient culture and traditions here.

Namtok Dai Chong Thong (น้ำตกไถฮ่องถอง)

This waterfall is located in Khao Laem National Park on Highway 323 (Thong Pha Phum-Sangkhla Buri) between km 32-33. Before arriving at Namtok Kroeng Krawia, you will see a sign leading to Namtok Dai Chong Thong on your left. Go ahead about 500 metres then turn right and go straight on for about 500 metres. After that, travel on foot for about 600 metres before reaching the medium-sized waterfall flowing to the Vajiralongkorn Dam with fertile green forest which looks very attractive, especially in the rainy season.

Namtok Kroeng Krawia (น้ำตกเกริงกระเวีย)

The waterfall is located in Khao Laem National Park on Highway 323 (Thong Pha Phum-Sangkhla Buri) between Kilometres. 32-33, a little further from Namtok Dai Chong Thong. Approximately 180 kilometres. from Amphoe Mueang, this small waterfall is the point where water cascades down from different directions, and it is a beautiful place to rest and relax on the way to Amphoe Sangkhla Buri.

Khao Laem National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติเขาแหลม)

About 182 kilometres from Kanchanaburi on Highway 323 (Thong Pha Phum-Sangkhla Buri), the national park is situated at km. 39-40, about 30 kilometres. to Amphoe Sangkhla Buri. With an area of 815 square kilometres covering Amphoe Thong Pha Phum and Amphoe Sangkhla Buri including forest, Khwae Noi River and Vajiralongkorn Dam (or Khao Laem Dam), it is a peaceful pleasant park with Huai Kateng Cheng flowing through it. Tourists can camp and start the journey there to learn about nature along the waterfall.

Namtok Kateng Cheng (น้ำตกกะเต็งเจ็ง) This medium-sized waterfall has 23 levels, and each level has its own different unique form. The distance from the first level to the highest one is about 2 kilometres.; therefore, it is suitable for visual studies of various kinds of forests; banana forest, bamboo forest, evergreen forest and mixed deciduous forest. Moreover, especially at the sixteenth level a large beautiful tree exists and another huge one requires at least 13 adults holding hands to encircle.

To experience this waterfall, tourists have to go on foot from the national park office taking about 2-3 hours. After about 2 kilometres, they will get to the first level of the waterfall. Climbing up to the higher levels, they will find a sight-seeing point at the top of the waterfall where they can see Khao Laem Dam at a bird's eye view.

After that, visitors can choose to return by foot and take a jungle trek through the fertile virgin forest instead of the one they depart from. During the journey, they will pass fascinating fern forest, Rakam (zalacca) forest, lichi and Mafai forest. Furthermore, it is pleasant to hear the echoing sound of water falling over the rocks all the time.

Pom Pi Ranger Station (หน่วยพิทักษ์อุทยานแห่งชาติบึงอมปี่) is situated 2 kilometres from the Khao Laem National Park. It is on the roadside of Highway No. 323 (Thong Pha Phum-Sangkhla Buri) at Kilometre 40-41. This place is attached to the reservoir with a pleasure atmosphere and a viewpoint of the Vajiralongkorn Dam where you can admire the beautiful sunset. Accommodation and camping area are available, and also many activities; such as, watching birds, boating, swimming, etc.

However, the rainy season is not a good time to visit this waterfall. Tourists should ask for official guides of the park office. Accommodation service and camping is available. Admission is 400 baht for adults and 200 baht for children.

Mon Bridge (สะพานมอญ).

located in Amphoe Sangkhla Buri, it is also called "Saphan Uttamanuson." crossing Huai Song Ka Lia where people in Amphoe Sangkhla Buri and Mon Village travel back and forth. This place is another great sight-seeing point of Vajiralongkorn Dam where many creeks; Song Ka Lia, Bi Khli and Ran Ti, meet together leading to "Sam Prasop'.

There is an alms-giving ceremony at 06.00 hrs. in the morning on the Mon village side. Along the route inside the village, there are shops selling Mon clothes and local goods, as well as homestay accommodation.

Wat Wang Wiwekaram (วัดวังกวีเวการาม).

is about 6 kilometres from Amphoe Sangkhla Buri, this temple is the residence of Luangpho Uttama, a respected monk of Thais and Mons including Karens and Burmese living in the area. On the riverside, an elegant marble Buddha image named "Luangpho Khao" is situated in the Wihan (Buddhist assembly hall). Besides, 1 kilometres from the temple, the Buddha Gaya Chedi with a square-formed base is situated containing relics of Lord Buddha's right thumb. Near the pagoda, there are lots of shops selling products from Myanmar such as clothing, cosmetics, Burmese talcum powder and wooden furniture at low prices.

Every year, in February, there is a festival to celebrate Luangpho Uttama's birthday. Activities include religious rituals, Muai Khat Chueak boxing, performances from the Cultural Folk Club such as Mon classical dance, Karen's Ram

The Underwater Town

Tong, etc. In the festival, people will get dressed in Thai-Raman typical costumes and prepare sets of food offerings to carry on their heads and give to the monks.

The Underwater Town (เมืองบาดาล), is the old location of Wat Wang Wiwekaram that was flooded from the building of Khao Laem Dam (Vajiralongkorn Dam) in 1984. The villagers had to evacuate to other areas. Luangpho Uttama, the abbot, moved to build the new Wat Wang Wiwekaram at the present location. Therefore, the old Wat Wang Wiwekaram became a beautiful ancient underwater town covered by water. In the dry season when the water level in the dam decreases, the old temple can be seen among beautiful nature. The best period to visit is March-July.

To get there: Contact a tour agency in Amphoe Sangkhla Buri, or charter a boat or raft from the accommodation or resort, to visit the lake, waterfront lifestyle, and underwater town, spending 15 minutes for 4-8 persons 300-400 baht/1 boat, or 1 hour for a raft, to see the underwater town.

Tham Kaeo Sawan Bandan (ถ้ำแก้วสวรรค์บาดาล)

It is a complex of caves located in Tham Kaeo Sawan Bandan Meditation Centre near a small mountain. Each cave has a specific name based on their characteristics; such as Tham Badan with knee-leveled water, Tham Phopu Ruesi, Tham Kaeo Morakot, Tham Kaeo Sawan Bandan, and Tham Kaeo with stalactites and stalagmites that glitter like a powder of diamond when light shines on them.

Please dress neatly with comfortable shoes. Be careful when visiting some caves which have a sloping stone mound; also in some caves you have to kneel down and crawl through the stone holes. It takes at least 6 hours to visit all caves.

To get there: take the route Sangkhla Buri-Three Pagodas Pass and turn right at km. 16 near the roadside shelter. Drive along the dirt road for about 800 metres then turn right. Go on for 200 metres until you arrive at the meditation centre where the cave is situated. Tourists can ask for more information about the cave from the monks who reside in the meditation centre area.

Three Pagodas Pass

Three Pagodas Pass (ด่านเจดีย์สามองค์)

The end of the Thai border in the west is located in Tambon Nong Lu on Highway 323, about 4 kilometres. before getting to Amphoe Sangkhla Buri. Turn into the intersection on your right and continue for 18 kilometres to get to the Three Pagodas Pass. All routes are asphalted.

In the past, the Three Pagodas Pass was called “Hin Sam Kong” (three piles of rocks) respected by Thais who always passed through the border. Later, in 1929 Phra Si Suwannakiri, Sangkhla Buri Governor at that time, led villagers to build three small-sized pagodas. In addition, the Three Pagodas Pass was also one of the crucial military routes of Siam and Myanmar.

Namtok Khli Ti (น้ำตกคลิตี้)

Examples of Tour Programmes

One-day Trip

Route 1:

Morning Kanchanaburi War Cemetery (Don Rak)
Thailand-Myanmar Railway Centre
JEATH War Museum (Wat Tai)
Bridge over the River Khwae
Afternoon Mueang Sing Historical Park
Sai Yok Elephant Village
Hellfire Pass Memorial Museum
Sai Yok National Park

Route 2:

Commemorate the history of World War II along the Death Railway Kanchanaburi was one crucial battle point in World War II, composed of the Death Railway, the strategic military route from Thailand to Myanmar and other ruins and important memorials to remind people of the great loss of humanity.

Along the way from Bangkok to the provincial city, we will learn more about history before we go out of the town to feel the mournful atmosphere and the unfortunate lives of the prisoners of war. The journey starts from the Kanchanaburi War Cemetery (Don Rak) (สุสานทหารสัมพันธมิตร ดอนรัก), where we stand in silence for a moment in front of the plaques of thousands of Allied servicemen, who died in

River Kwai Bridge Week

World War II. The peaceful atmosphere and the large white Cross of Sacrifice in the middle of the cemetery reminds us of the war very clearly. Near the cemetery, the Thailand-Myanmar Railway Centre (พิพิธภัณฑ์ทางรถไฟไทย-พม่า) is situated. In the past, it was the place where British prisoners gathered documents, photographs, and weapons during the period when the railway was being built. The Museum is divided into rooms and each room has an air conditioner. In addition, you will see the Japanese engineers' exploratory map of the route construction, which was donated, and other constructing tools. Later, visit the Bridge over the River Khwae (สะพานข้ามแม่น้ำแคว), a part of the history of World War II, to recall the scene when prisoners took each railway sleeper on their shoulders and laid it down one by one until it formed a historical railway with the loss of lives in return. Now walk to the middle of the bridge to admire the picturesque view from the near to the far-away bending point of the river. Then, take a break and have lunch at a raft restaurant on the riverside. Near the Bridge over the River Khwae, The War Museum (หอศิลป์และพิพิธภัณฑ์สงคราม) is located. Take a train along the old route of World War II to take photographs. At the museum, visitors can see artefacts and learn about the Thai people from the pre-historical period, during World War II, until now. On the highest floor, you can see the River Khwae at a bird's eye view and see canoes and kayaks gradually flowing along the river, passing under the Bridge over the River Khwae, to the replica of the Japanese military camp downstairs. The War Museum is owned by a private organization recognised by the Fine Arts Department.

Next, drive northward out of town to Namtok Sai Yok about 80 kilometres. and turn left to enter the Agricultural and Cooperative Division, the Royal Thai Armed Forces Development Command, Amphoe Sai Yok, to get to the Hellfire Pass Memorial Museum (ห้องเขาคาดพิพิธภัณฑสถานแห่งความทรงจำ) which was built in memory of the fatal lives of Australian, British, Dutch and Asian prisoners of war who were forced to construct the railway connecting Thailand and Myanmar. Visit the museum and see the visual presentation which tells the story of prisoners who survived from the war through words, drawings, and exhibition of artefacts, such as pound hammer, hoe, spade, woven basket, which were the prisoners' important tools, besides both of their hands, to construct the railway for a little amount of dirty food in exchange. They said one sleeper was equal to one loss of a prisoner. Then, walk to the bridge where the ceramic bowl of peace is located and be composed to recall the torture of the dead prisoners. When sunset comes, it is the time to walk along the Death Railway to visit the real area of the mountain passes: Chong Khao Khat, Chong Tat Hin Tok, and Chong Khao Tat. Each pass was created by drilling holes in the mountain to build the railway. The nearest point is Chong Khao Khat, taking about 40 minutes to travel back and forth while it takes 3 hours for a return trip to the furthest point, called Chong Khao Tat. Along the way back, before arriving at the town about 35 kilometres, Phum Panya Thai Shop (ร้านภูมิปัญญาไทย) is situated on your right. It is a place to take a break, drinking low caffeine "coffee" whose ingredients include black sesame, soy, red rice, red sugar, etc. Buy various products made from herbs and search for more information about your next trip by using computers provided at the shop. The shop opens at 9.00 a.m.–5.30 p.m. Tel. 08 9836 2263.

Route 3:

Jungle tour to a waterfall, journey trek to a safari
From the provincial city, go to Kaeng Sian Intersection and turn into Highway 3199. Pass Tha Thung Na Dam and drive along the ridge of the dam, listening to the beautiful sound of water falling over rocks at Erawan National Park. Then switch your trip to adventure on safari to see intelligent animals and go shopping to buy some products made of bananas and corn milk as souvenirs before you go back. After that, visit the beautiful sight-seeing point at the Reservoir above Srinagarindra Dam (ทะเลสาบเหนือเขื่อนศรีนครินทร์) and measure time with the sundial which can indicate the time, month, and season, at Suan Wela Ramluek. Look at the end of the shadow pointer put down on the graph to point out the period of the present time and month. In the past, ancient people calculated the obahtuse angle and direction of the pointer of the sundial including the direction of the sunlight's refraction in each month to indicate the time. Doors open daily at 6.00 a.m.–6.00 p.m. Cruising boats are available. Please contact Tel. 0 3457 4001-2 ext. 2010, 2016. Next, go to Erawan National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติเอราวัณ), where you can learn about the nature and gain general information about the landscape of the park by participating in the exhibition held in the Tourist Service Centre. The route to the waterfall passes a teak and bamboo forest. Each level of the waterfall here is beautiful in its own style. Take a lunch break at the second level of the waterfall. It takes at least 3 hours to climb up to the seventh level which is the highest. To go back, you may take another jungle trekking route, starting from the second level of the cascades, through diverse kinds of forest and learn about necessary signs and symbols used in trekking. In addition, there are other tourist attractions in Erawan National Park and bicycles for rent are available for tourists who would like to hang around. In the afternoon, arrive at Amphoe Bo Phloi and visit the Safari Park (ซาฟารีปาร์ค) by car to take a look at various kinds of animals. Take the safari park's minibus with driver who can introduce many kinds of animals, or drive yourselves if you prefer. It is recommended that you should not forget to buy food to feed those animals along the way, starting from various species of deer, bears which often sleep during the day, tigers, lions, cheetahs, and giraffes which bend their heads down and put their faces gently into your car, asking for food. Besides, there are llamas, camels and other amazing desert animals. Also, there are shows of intelligent animals, such as dogs, elephants and crocodiles captured by hand. On the way back, visit Rai Khun Mon (ไร่คุณแมน), which is only 1 km away from the Safari Park. When you see the direction sign leading to Rai Khun Mon, drive along a laterite road for another 2 kilometres, Then, you will get to the production factory of fried bananas in vacuum packages which are one famous snack served on Thai Airways' aircrafts. Furthermore, it is one of the OTOP products of Kanchanaburi, too. Tourists can see the overall production process and buy some products as snacks during the trip or as souvenirs. Besides, other products include corn milk, corn milk ice cream corn milk toffee and herbal Krayasat which is a dessert for people who are concerned about health.
